Since that period, the desire of the natives to work on the plantation is great, and Mr. Titcomb already gives employment to fifty people of both sexes, which number will be increased as his operations are enlarged. The good effects of this industry is already obvious, in the better appearance of the natives. Platinum is the heaviest of all metals.

Oxygen is essential to animal life. There are fifty-five known elements, or pon-derable substances, forty-two of which are metals, and thirteen are non-metals. These elements, by uniting, form compounds, of which the material world chiefly consists. Most of the elements are usually solid; but it is believed by philosophers generally that by intense heat, all the solids might be converted into liquids, and these into gasses; and that by pressure and abstraction of heat, all gasses and liquids might be solidified. Iron is said to have been discovered accidentally, by the burning of Mount Ida, 1406 years before Christ. Iron is the most useful of all the known metals. It is converted into steel by combining it with a due proportion of carbon. Iron was first made in America in 1715.

Gold and silver are the only perfect metals known bey are called perfect because they lose nothing from the heat of fire. Imperfect metals are those which decrease by the heat of fire, and are easily corroded by acids; as quicksilver, lead,

EXPERIENCE IN KISSING.-A correspondent sends Harper's Editorial Drawer the following account of one of our Maine young fellows, who thus describes his battle, and final victory, in a fair fight for a kiss of his sweetheart: 'Ah, now, Sarah dear give me a kiss-one—and be done with it.'

'I won't! so, there now.'

'Then I'll have to take it, whether or no.'
'Take it if you dare!
So at it we went, rough and tumble. An awful destruction of starch now commenced. The bow of my cravat was squat up in half of no time. At the next bout, smash went shirt collar, and at the same time some of the head-fastenings gave way, and down came Sally's hair like a flood in a milldam broke loose, carrying away half a dozen combs. One plunge of Sally's elbow, and my blooming bosom ruffles wilted to the consistency and form of an after dinner napkin. But she had no time to boast. Soon her neck tackling began to shiver, parted at the throat, and away went a string of white beads, scampering and running races every way you could think of about the floor. She fought fair, however, I must admit; and when she could fight no longer, must admit; and when she could fight no longer, for the want of breath, she yielded handsomely; her arms fell down by her side—those long, round, rosy arms—her hair hung back over the chair, her eyes were half shut, as if she were not able to hold them open a minute longer, and there lay a little plump mouth all in the air! My goodness! Did you ever see a hawk pounce on a robin? or a bee on a clover ton? Even so I on a robin? or a bee on a clover top? Even so I settled; and when she came to, and threw up those arms, and seized me around the neck, and declared she would choke me if I ever did so again, and had a great mind to do it now. just ran the risk over again, and the more she choked the more I liked it; and now she puts her arms around my neck, and puts her own lips in the way of mine every day, and calls me her John, and don't seem to make any fuss about it

We use no rhetorical catachresis, when we say that a horrible catastrophe was thus prevented, and that at the last catcall, pussy should have a gorgeous catafalco and an honored catacomb, "Hail meres," &c.

E. CUTRELL (late Cutrell & Peterson)

Proprietor, Merchant Street, Honolulu, thankful for the liberal patronage hitherto enjoyed, continues to solicit the attention of his friends and the public in general to this establishment. Neither pains nor expense have been spared to render this house a desirable place of resort to the resident or visitor in Honolulu. The bar is continually stocked with the choicest wines, liquors, etc., that can be procured, and is under the immediate charge of Mr. Randall Smith, so long and favorably known in this community. known in this community.

The billiard saloon is unsurpassed by any in the place, and is under the sole charge of Mr. A. J. McDuffee, whose present popularity is sufficient guarantee of his future success in catering in this particular department for the amusement of those who may favor the house with their patronage.
